PS Below, some comments on the tracks on 'Tone Tales' (which has also been available as a cassette).

'Considering the Flotsam and Jetsam that techno acts have been spewing of late it's pleasantly surprising to find every track is above average'  FIVE STARS (maxx!!)

Dragging the Music Biz kicking and screaming into the 21st Century.....multimedia bods NTone/Ninjatune, Hex and Coldcut announce the birth of a brand new On-Line presence codenamed PIPE.

What it basically is

Pipe uses the InterNet World Wide Web and is a matrix of linked hypertext html files incorporating information, graphic art, and sound files.

Where

Pipe can be accessed via software eg Mosaic or MacWeb at <http://www.southern.com>. The Southern site also houses the Mi:master Morris and Convulsion magazine Web pages.

A US mirror site is now available, <http://www.i-m-a.com/Southern/> for faster access from the States.

Why

Pipe is intended as a future media webzine, an interactive info/entertainment library centered round the work and interests of Hex, Coldcut and NTone/Ninja and including these areas:

Music esp. electronic, dub, cut-up, techno, hiphop and funky jazzz.

FEVA (fucked/freaky electronic video art) and computer graphics.

NuMedia interactive software.

Artifical Life, AI, Complexity Theory, the Post Human Condition.

Slack.

What U do

Once within Pipe you can for example access a gallery of cyberdelic pictures from Hex and others; a couple of these are included on this floppy (in JPEG form).

There is also info on Coldcut including playlists from their rated Kiss show 'Solid Steel' and the OFFICIAL samples listing and stories behind their tunes like 'Say Kids' and 'Paid in Full'.

Pipe includes an interactive NTone/Ninja database/discography linked to details about their artists such as DJ Food, 9Lazy9, Drome and Journeyman, with pics of album sleeves and also 'taster' samples of tracks which can be downloaded and played.

There are also contributions from The Idler (mag for Slackers) and links to other WWW sites of interest.

Documents are linked so expect references to range from Philip K. Dick to Photoshop to Post-Humanism to Politics to Phuture Media-all part of Pipe.

Pipe Present

The birth of Pipe is being celebrated with the release of the special price CD 'Tone Tales from Tomorrow' - a chance to taste the NTone vibe and sample Hex Computer Art. (see ToneTales CD info)

Future Pipe

Pipe is being expanded continually; some forthcoming attractions planned to be OnPipe soon:

'Mind Food' Ambientzine by OpenMind/Telepathic Fish

'Dan's Tangential Toy Shop' Funky software Toys by Wild Tangent.

'ON' Alternative mag by Pete Lawrence

'SoundPipe' - a collection of audio samples inc. more NTone/Ninja tracks and library of Coldcut Audio bytes.

'PipeTU' - a collection of Hex FEVA and other video/animation clips (QuickTime), with sound.

'Pipeology' - some random weirdness

Right now there's still sum werk to do to sort all of that.....but a lot of it is working so PIPE IT ON DOWN to <http://www.southern.com>

Pipe Input

Contributions/Questions/Criticism about Pipe are welcome; further information and pictures on slide or on disk are available if required.
